

The AI Act prohibits selected unacceptable-risk AI practices. Examples include manipulative or deceptive techniques that materially distort behaviour and cause significant harm, exploitation of vulnerabilities related to age, disability or social or economic situation, certain social scoring practices, and some biometric categorisation and real-time remote biometric identification uses. A compliance assistant must not recommend deploying a prohibited practice; it should advise stopping the design, documenting the risk and seeking legal review.